Public alert after toxic fumes leak

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TOXIC fumes were released into the air by a chemical spillage, which prompted warnings to nearby residents to remain indoors.

A tonne of aluminium chloride powder spilled out of a tanker on the premises of International Flavours and Fragrances (IFF) in Duddery Hill, Haverhill, shortly before 1pm on Monday, and hazardous fumes were released after the substance reacted with the wind and rain.

Fire crews dressed in chemical protection suits and breathing apparatus were called to the scene. They covered the powder, which can irritate the respiratory system, eyes and skin, and prepared drums to contain the chemical. An exclusion zone around the spill was created.

Those living in the Chalkstone Estate, Roman Way and the Wilsey Estate were urged to stay indoors and to keep their doors and windows closed until further notice, and some schools were asked to keep children inside.

Andrew Allen, 57, of Eden Road, Haverhill, who works for BFS Pressroom Solutions in Falconer Road, was sent home from work at around 3.20pm. He said: "It's good the police were prompt and on the Concern over scheme

A DRIVE-through service at Tesco to collect shopping bought online could endanger pedestrians and affect the local economy, according to town planners.

The application for the 'click and collect' canopied pod, to be built on part of the Haverhill supermarket's car park, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

But Haverhill Town Council has already expressed concerns over the safety of pedestrians, whether it would attract antisocial behaviour and whether it would prevent people from shopping in the town centre.

Minutes from a meeting of the planning committee reveal it would also be considered "an eyesore and not sympathetic to surroundings" and requested it be built closer to the store.

The pod would operate during store opening hours from 7am to 11pm Monday to Saturday and 10am to 4pm on Sundays.

Summer of fun events lined up for residents

Fancy dress: youngsters at Tiny Toes Nursery took part in a Big Toddle for Barnardo's.

Tots have a roaring time during toddle

FEARSOME lions and tigers roared their way around a field, as nursery children dressed as their favourite safari animals took part in a Big Toddle event.

Around 70 pre-school children, including babies pushed in their buggies, took part in the event at the Tiny Toes Nursery in Homefield Road, Haverhill yesterday morning.

Their effort was part of a national campaign to raise funds for children's charity Barnardo's.

Organiser Danielle Lloyd said all the children who attend the nursery took part and were collecting sponsor money from their family and friends. Each child received a certificate for taking part.

SCHOOL will be out soon and a season of summer fun events is about to get started.

The annual programme run by Haverhill Town Council starts with the Big Day Out at the Recreation Ground on Wednesday and will this year feature a free extreme adventure course with high ropes, spider mountain, scramble nets and more.

Other activities include workshops, demonstrations and advice and information from organisations within the town.

The Big Bash, Haverhill's charity fundraising day takes place on Sunday, July 31, again at the Recreation Ground.

In addition to stalls from local organisations, there will be music from Haverhill Youth and Community Band, a car boot sale and street theatre. This will include Jon Hicks, International Man of Artistry, who makes his brushmark with rapid-fire painting, Bling and Ting, two oversized teenage girls and John Teasdale who, armed with one small suitcase full of props and one high unicycle, presents a show filled with comedy, juggling and truly memorable entertainment.

The Great Big Tribute Night 1, a free event on Saturday, August 6, at 8pm on the Market Square sees The Greatest Tribute to Take That and Robbie Williams plus Tribute Chix singing all the best from the hottest girl acts in the charts including Lady Gaga, Sugababes, The Saturdays, Girls Aloud, Beyonce and more.

On Saturday, August 27, at 8pm on the Market Square the Great Big Tribute Night Too is also free and features The Jackie Generation with pop hits from the 1970s plus top tunes from the 50s and 60s with the Sing Out Sisters and Jade Donno, finalist at the Open Mic 2010 at the 02.

throughout August, starting on August 3 with Castle Capers at Castle Playing Fields. Bring a picnic and join in the fun with Flatbed Trampolines, Abbeycroft Leisure Sports equipment, and more from 11am to 3pm

On Wednesday, August 10, between 10am - 4pm the Children's Festival takes place on the Recreation Ground with music workshops, dance, magic shows, art and craft workshops, story-telling, sports and games.

East Town Park will be the location for the Picnic in Park on Wednesday, August 17. Last year more than 700 people joined in the fun. There will also be entertainment from Calamity the Clown plus a Giant Slide and a Bouncy Castle

On Wednesday, August 24, from 11am take part in Summer Ice Skating on The Plaza by Haverhill Leisure Centre. There will also be a bouncy castle, Abbeycroft Leisure Sports equipment, play stuff and more.

On Sunday, August 21, Free Family Sunday will be on the Recreation Ground from 11am to 3pm with inflatables and a magic show with El Rico.

A climbing wall will be the main attraction on Wednesday, August 31, at The New Croft on Chalkstone Way, with other play and sports equipment available too.

The U Festival days on the Market Square have been created with young people aged 12+ in mind on Thursdays in August and there are a selection of family and children's events at the Arts Centre, as well as drama workshops and open air theatre in the East Town Park.

For a booklet including all summer events in Haverhill and holiday clubs, call Haverhill Arts Centre Box Office on (01440) 714140.

Opera star to sing at her village picnic concert

INTERNATIONAL opera singer Yvonne Howard has once again agreed to lead an impressive line-up at the second picnic concert in her home village.

The renowned mezzo-soprano singer will perform at the picturesque cricket meadow at Mill Green, Shudy Camps, just outside Haverhill, on Saturday.

Yvonne made her debut with the Royal Opera Covent Garden as Mercedes in Carmen in 1991.

The picnic concert, named 'Songs from the Shows', will include excerpts from The Sound of Music, Les Miserables, Carousel and Phantom of the Opera. Other acts will include rock themes and even Thai dancing, so there is something for everyone.

Gates will open from 4pm for the audience to enjoy their own picnics, and the concert programme starts at 6pm.

Richard Blackmore, from Mill Green Cricket Club, said: "We have organised a feast of local entertainment to rival any of the very popular picnic concerts that are held around the country."

Tickets cost £12 per person. For more details, contact Mr Blackmore on 0776644051 or visit www.eventbrite.com/event/1885829567 to purchase tickets online.

Moonlight walkers call

HAVERHILL women are urgently needed to register for a charity moonlit walk.

The Girls Night Out will see hundreds of women walk an 11.2 mile or six-mile route around Bury St Edmunds, starting and finishing at Angel Hill.

The night will start with a zumba warm-up, while entertainers and bands will be performing along the route.

To get involved in this year's event, contact Jenny Baskett on (01284) 715583 or email jenny.baskett@stnh.org.uk.

Homes plan for old pub

PLANS to convert an empty pub into two homes have been received by planners. The application is for change of use and conversion of the former Black Horse public house in Camps Road, Haverhill, with parking, landscaping and associated alterations and to build a car barn, after demolishing a garage and part of a store. It had been received by St Edmundsbury Borough Council from brewers Greene King.

Compost to be given out

FREE compost will be given out on a first come first served basis next week.

As a thank you to the public for supporting St Edmundsbury Borough Council's brown bin and compostable waste scheme, the free compost – produced from green, kitchen and garden waste – will be available at the Haverhill Big Day Out on Wednesday at the Recreation Ground, in Recreation Road, Haverhill.

Just bring a bag to fill.

Rev up for hospice cash

A CINEMA is celebrating the release of a blockbuster film with Scalextric car races.

Cineworld in Ehringhausen Way, Haverhill, will be running the games from midday through to 5pm on Saturday, July 23, to mark Cars 2 hitting the big screen. Organisers will collect a 50p donation from competitors, and customers will have the chance to purchase a raffle ticket for £1 to win the entire Scalextric set. All money will go to St Nicholas Hospice.

Police call sparks mum's outburst

Teenager told to apologise after prank with friend's bike

A TEENAGER who took the dust cap off a friend's bike and threw it in a ditch has been told he needs to write a letter of apology – or he faces a criminal record.

Daniel Findon said he committed the "childish prank" in Vetch Walk, Haverhill, because he thought it would be funny.

The 15-year-old pupil at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill, said: "I wasn't bullying him. I thought it would be a laugh. We are friends again now."

He thought no more about it until the police turned up on his doorstep.

Debbie Chamberlain, his outraged mother, said her reaction was "utter shock and disbelief."

She explained: "It is laughable that the police would come out over something as small as a dust cap. They gave us seven days to replace it and write a letter of apology, otherwise they would arrest him and he would get a police record.

BY JO DEEKS

"I kept calm for my son's sake, but I was fuming. It unbelievable for the police to take this very petty and so-called crime to the extreme of coming out to investigate, when there is real serious crime going on like rape, robbery and car crime."

The mother-of-three, of Vetch Walk, Haverhill, said she wished the incident had not been reported to police. Daniel has now replaced the £4.50 dust cap and written the letter of apology.

A spokesman for Suffolk police said: "We were called to a report of a theft of a dust cap from a bicycle being ridden by a 12-year-old boy, who was very distressed by the incident."

"Inquiries were carried out and a 15-year-old boy from Haverhill has accepted a community resolution, the terms of which are an apology and replacement of the dust cap.

"Community Resolution provides officers with discretion to deal with the individual circumstances of each offence, and stops people being criminalised for low-level offences."

"In this instance the officer spoke to both parties to obtain the facts of the incident and used his discretion to decide the appropriate outcome."

But Mrs Chamberlain believes the police should not have been involved.

She added: "The police should buck up their ideas and focus on the real criminals out there."

"What a total waste of their time and our taxpayers' money. The issue could have been dealt with if the mother had come to me and sorted it out like adults – there was no need to involve the police."

Metal thieves' huge haul

THOUSANDS of pounds worth of lead was stolen from factory roofs during two raids in Haverhill during a six-day period.

Thieves first struck in Rookwood Way between 7pm on Wednesday, July 13, and 9.45am the following day, stealing a large quantity of lead flashing from the unit's roof during the night.

Then in Hollands Road, a similar offence took place between 6pm on Monday, July 18, and 9am on Tuesday, July 19. This time, lead worth around £3,000 was stripped away from the roofs of six industrial units.

A spokeswoman for Suffolk Police urged owners of properties vulnerable to metal theft to make their buildings and sites safe by using CCTV and security lighting, and by locking gates and entrances.

She added: "In some cases several thousand pounds worth of metal in its various forms has been stolen from premises, which takes a considerable amount of time to remove and a vehicle to transport."

"Any sightings of persons acting suspiciously near building sites or any property with lead roofing, or cold calling looking for scrap metal should be reported to police."

Calls in relation to the Haverhill incidents should be made to Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Industrial Watches are in place in many areas. Contact your Community Watch Liaison Officer on (01473) 613500 for further details.

Parents rewarded with a tour of classroom

PARENTS got a chance to tour a new classroom and refurbishments at a village primary school which they helped to pay for.

Thurlow Primary School currently has 83 pupils, but this will increase to 99 in September and it now has capacity to cater for up to 105. Building work took six months to complete and cost a total of around £500,000, with around £100,000 of this contributed by the school itself.

Last Friday afternoon, a special assembly was held followed by an official opening of the new classroom and a tour for parents and friends.

Rose Bunting, headteacher, said: "We have one new classroom and another one was completely reorganised, as well as refurbishment of the reception and headteacher's office."

She added: "It has made a much better environment for the school."

Child safety was 'priority'

ball with it, it just shows how concerned they were about it."

Vanessa Blackwell, of Waveney Terrace which joins onto Duddery Road, said she had seen some people covering their mouths around town, but added the mood had been calm.

She said: "It's difficult for people to understand a risk which is why it's so important for services to be out there telling people."

"I have been really impressed with how everybody has communicated with each other."

Miss Blackwell, who is deputy principal at the Castle Partnership, said she had left the secondary school at about 3.50pm in search of more information and spoke to a policeman who was knocking door to door advising people to stay inside. A policewoman visited the school at about 4pm.

Miss Blackwell said: "We had to make sure the children were safe. Our priority is to make sure the children are safe and that we follow instructions."

At 4.30pm, Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service (SFRS) reported pupils were leaving school, and that the incident was stable.

Shortly after 5pm, a spokesman for Suffolk County Council said the spillage had been contained, SFRS firefighters, IFF firefighters and other agencies remained at the scene, and clear-up efforts were scheduled for later that evening.

He said exclusion zones had been lifted and a message passed to all schools informing them that the situation had been stabilised and they were free to allow children to leave.

It is not thought anybody has been affected by the incident.

Climbers put in a peak performance

Trio don superhero costumes to tackle Spanish mountain

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SOLDIER Mike Jeffs put on a Spiderman costume and scaled a Spanish mountain to raise cash for the Help the Heroes charity.

Mike, 24, and girlfriend Gemma, 26, – who is terrified of heights – spent four days scaling sheer crags in mountains overlooking Benidorm. Gemma took on roles such as Supergirl and Action Girl, while Mike became Superman, Elvis and even Shaun the Sheep to boost the charity's coffers.

The pair were accompanied by professional climber Mark Edwards, who runs a climbing school in Benidorm where Mike previously took part in a course.

Mike, of Sturmer Road, Kedington, a member of the Territorial Army, said: "Mark noticed my Help for Heroes wristband and asked what it was. I told him and he said he would like to make a donation, so I gave him the details."

"When I got back to England he contacted me on Facebook to say he would run a course free of charge to help raise money for the charity."

"Originally there were six of us going, but all of them had to drop out for various reasons. It was just me left and Gemma said she would come and try to overcome her fear of heights."

"I had done some rock climbing before, but I am by no means an expert. There was quite a lot of vertical stuff, so it definitely was quite a challenge.

"As it was only the two of us, I thought we would wear superhero costumes to try and make a bit more of a spectacle of it and raise a bit more money."

"All of the costumes were incredibly hot and in the Shaun the Sheep one you could not see anything, so I was literally rock climbing blind."

Mike has been part of the Territorial Army for six years and has served in Afghanistan twice, with a third trip due next January. His aim was to raise £1,000 and so far has managed £600. Anyone wishing to support Help for Heroes can make a donation online at www.bmycharity.com/rockclimbspain.

No action on rape suspect

A MAN who was arrested last month in connection with an alleged rape and robbery has had all proceedings against him dropped.

The 20-year-old attended Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre for further questioning on Monday but was told no further action would be taken.

The Haverhill man had been accused of the offences after police were called at around 2.20am on Sunday, June 19, by a 19-year-old woman who reported she had been raped and robbed by a man on the recreation ground at Recreation Road in the town.

The man was arrested at home, taken into custody at Martlesham Police Investigation Centre, and then released on police bail. His bail has now been cancelled.

Pupils are guests of honour

PUPILS got a tour of their local hotel and were served lunch in the same lounge which children from their school had named several years ago.

More than 30 Year 1 students from Clements Primary School in Haverhill were invited to visit the Days Inn Hotel Haverhill recently.

They were treated to a tour of the hotel, including the bedrooms, linen stores, Falcon conference rooms, bar, cellar, reception, office area and kitchen. They were then served a buffet lunch in the Kingfisher Lounge and bar area, and were all given goody bags.

General Manager Donna Revell extended the invitation to the school to celebrate the 'facelift' of the Kingfisher Lounge.

Checking in to check it out: youngsters from St Clements gather at the Days Inn.

CP

Back in 2006, Clements Primary School pupils were asked to name the hotel lounge and two conference rooms while the facilities were being prepared for the hotel opening in December of that year.

The students named the conference rooms Falcon 1 and Falcon 2 and the bar and lounge area became the Kingfisher Lounge.

Lesley Farrow, Head of Clements Primary said: "The Year 1 children were absolutely buzzing with what a wonderful time they have had on their return from the hotel."

"They were thrilled with their bags of presents and were all keen to tell me they had jumped on the beds."

You're a credit to Haverhill

Sir, We wish to express our most sincere thanks and appreciation to the dedicated staff and wonderful pupils at Coupals Primary School. Our daughter, Molly, who has cerebral palsy and is severely disabled, has attended the school two days a week for the last 5 years. We wanted Molly to attend a local mainstream school for some of the time, so that she could grow up part of the local community, rather than isolated from it.

Molly has been integrated into school life to a degree that was beyond our expectations. The school has welcomed Molly and made every effort to allow her to thrive and take a full part in school life and all the activities.

Molly has been helped tremendously by dedicated teaching assistants who have modified the curriculum activities and made them accessible so she can partake in the lessons alongside her classmates. Despite her severe communication difficulties, Molly has made many friends at school.

The children have played an active part in supporting Molly and have ensured she is always part of whatever's happening. Just last week, during sports day, the children conspired to help Molly win one of the races. She went over the line in her wheelchair to the sound of her friends chanting her name. Wonderful stuff.

Molly is now moving into secondary education. So it is with sadness that we have to say 'goodbye' to the friendly, secure, welcoming Coupals School.

We're so grateful and want to say a huge 'thank you' to the whole school. Marking their report, we might say - 'well done, excellent work, a credit to Haverhill!'

Many thanks for your support

Sir, May I take this opportunity to say a very sincere 'thank you' to all members of staff, teaching and non teaching, past and present, of our four middle schools.

Between them, they have educated and supported two generations of our community, and as a parent and grandparent of children who have attended these schools I know how much they have achieved.

Congratulations to you all, and I wish you the very best for the future.

LIVE music and entertainment were laid on at a secondary school to celebrate the life of teenager Jessica Gower and support two life-changing charities.

Linton Village College hosted Jesstonbury on Saturday, featuring live music and entertainment from Jess's school friends and teachers, who organised the event with a festival spirit – not dampened by the weather.

Jess, a former student at the school, was diagnosed with primary bone cancer in the summer of 2009, and despite an operation to remove the tumour and extensive chemotherapy died in December, aged just 14.

Since their loss, friends and family have worked hard to raise money for charities that did their best for Jess and can help others in the future.

Wellies were a key feature of the wet day, but smiles remained as revellers enjoyed live music, food stalls, belly dancing, crafts, a beat-the-goalie competition, and raffle.

The theme of the afternoon was lemons because of a humorous comment Jess once made on her Facebook page – "When life gives you lemons, keep them, because, hey, free lemons" – which has since been taken to heart by her 10HP class.

The afternoon ended with a balloon release in memory of the teenager.

All proceeds of Jesstonbury went to CLIC Sargent and the Bone Cancer Research Trust.

Part of the event had to be moved indoors at the last minute due to the weather – but it did not dampen spirits.

Shirley Gower, Jess's mum who lives – with Jess's dad Mic – in Arrendene Road, Haverhill, said: "The best thing about the afternoon was seeing so many young people, including Jess's friends, getting together to help to do something wonderful in her memory."

"The young performers were all fantastic and an enthusiastic crowd helped to create a brilliant atmosphere."

Shirley added her thanks to everyone who got involved, either by helping on the day, making cakes, giving donations or just coming along to offer support. In total, the day raised more than £4,500.

And Jess's mother said: "The rain did eventually stop, just in time for the balloon release, which moved many people to tears. It was a lovely way to end the afternoon."

Tucking in: some of the people who turned up to celebrate the life of Jessica Gower.

Police seek water pistol attacker

OCCUPANTS of a black saloon car are wanted by police after they fired a water pistol at an 11-year-old boy in the street.

The incident took place in Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, at around 7.15pm last Saturday when the youngster was riding his scooter. The shot caused minor facial injuries.

A police spokeswoman said: "A woman was driving the car with two male passengers."

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Richard Oldroyd on (01284) 774100.

In Memoriam

CLARK Kenneth (Ken)
July 19th, 2001.

Ten years have passed and still within our hearts, we care and keep each memory dear. It's hard to lose someone you love, who's been a special part of our lives and our world.

The comfort is knowing that we have a great deal of happy memories of a very special person.

Always in our thoughts,
Jean, family and friends

PUNTER George

No car pulls on the driveway,
No key turns in the lock,
And all there is for me to do,
Is watch that ticking clock,
A year's gone by already,
How can that possibly be,
That very sad and lonely day,
God said 'please come to me'.

Miss you and love you forever.

Goodbyes are not the end,
They simply mean we'll miss you,
Until we meet again.

Missing you so much.
Thinking of you always.

Outcry at council's £160k pay

THE successor to a controversial council chief will still be paid more than the Prime Minister, it has emerged.

Andrea Hill quit her job with Suffolk County Council, after she refused to reduce her £218,000-a-year salary.

And now council chiefs are recruiting a replacement chief executive and are offering a basic annual salary of £160,000 - plus generous bonuses.

Angry councillors and opponents have responded to the news by demanding a "re-think" - calling the wages on offer a "massive error".

The authority's move goes against orders from local government and communities secretary Eric Pickles to make all council salaries less than the £142,500 paid to PM David Cameron.

Kathy Pollard, Lib Dem councillor and leader of the opposition in Suffolk County Council, said: "I cannot see why we should pay more than the salary of the Prime Minister.

"I really hope there is a re-think and we should look to settle on a lower figure than this."

Meanwhile Dr Daniel Poulter, Central Suffolk and North Ipswich MP, has demanded that council leader Mark Bee lower the job

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

salary. He said: "If they are looking at £160,000, I think it would be a massive error for the county council, which has got a lot of goodwill for the changes that have come in."

Hill, 47, was sent on extended leave from her job at Easter after a whistle-blower made a damning complaint to councillors.

The married mum of three had previously attracted criticism for refusing calls from the Government to cut her salary while slashing other jobs and council services.

Hill was also blasted for her extravagant spending, including £1,800 hotel bills, £12,000 on a management guru and £1,474 on photographs of herself.

She quit her post earlier this month after an inquiry by the Dismissals and Appeals Committee into her "domineering management style".

The inquiry claimed Hill's wages and use of council cash "might not represent best use of public money" but found no evidence of dishonesty.

She stepped down from her post and was handed a year's wage in compensation.

The county council's appointments board will finalise a salary band for the new chief executive next week.

Plea to summer donors

DONORS are being asked not to forget about giving blood during the busy summer holiday period.

NHS Blood and Transplant is reminding people that some blood group stocks dip in the summer and with red blood cells only having a shelf life of 35 days and platelets a shelf life of five days, blood cannot be stockpiled.

Derek Carr, lead donor relations manager, said that if donors could not attend their appointment, they should call 0300 123 23 23.

There are upcoming local sessions at the Haverhill Arts Centre in High Street on August 1, 17 and 31.

For more information and to book an appointment, call the donor line on 0300 123 23 23 or visit www.blood.co.uk.

Police link two crimes

A BURGLARY and theft from a car have been linked by police.

Between 10pm last Thursday and 6am the next morning the window of a blue Vauxhall Vectra was smashed and thieves stole a stereo in The Causeway, Haverhill.

Then in Shannon Close, Haverhill, between 3am and 3.30am on the Friday morning, offenders broke into a garage by forcing the door and snatched fishing equipment.

Calls in relation to this incidents should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team or PC Carl Edley on (01284) 774100. Alternatively, call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Immortalised: Caroline Maclean with her mosaic at Bury St Edmunds Leisure Centre

Basketball star is the inspiration for mosaic

VISITORS to a leisure centre will see a colourful mosaic featuring Haverhill Paralympian and London 2012 hopeful Caroline Maclean.

Caroline has unveiled the new Olympic-inspired 20ft mosaic at Bury St Edmunds Leisure Centre, designed by students at the town's Priory School to be a permanent reminder of London 2012.

The town will host the Rwandan Olympic and Paralympic athletes next year.

Caroline, who has competed in wheelchair basketball in three Paralympics – Sydney 2000, Athens 2004 and Beijing 2008 – visited Priory School earlier this year and provided the inspiration for one of the panels. Last month, she won a gold medal when the GB wheelchair basketball team won the BT Paralympic World Cup final.

The project was organised by Suffolk County Council and funded through a grant from Activities Unlimited for young disabled people from Bury St Edmunds.

The design for the mosaic is based on the students' drawings, which were enlarged and transposed into a design by Urban Eye, the charity behind the workshops.

The project was open to young people between 16 and 25 and volunteers including current students and former pupils. Former official artist to the British Olympic Association Kevin Whitney helped students create the stunning mural.

Caroline said: "I had a fantastic day talking to the students at Priory School and I'm really proud that they wanted to include me on the mosaic. It is stunning."

Cllr Kathy Gosling from Suffolk County Council said that Caroline was an inspiration to young people: "I am delighted Suffolk County Council has been able to lead this project and, in doing so, spread a little bit of the magic of the Olympic and Paralympic Games."

SLIGHTLY scrumpled, the photograph shows a tall, 40-something Jamaican man lounging casually on a bed in drainpipe trousers.

For Kelly-Ann Oakman, the photograph is significant in more ways than one: it was the final birthday present she ever received from her father, the last time she saw him, in 1992. And it was the single piece of evidence that helped her solve the 19-year puzzle of his disappearance.

Two weeks after her 12th birthday, the photo tucked safely in a drawer at home, Kelly's grandmother called the house where she lived with her mother in Potters Bar. The arrangements had all been made: Kelly would meet her dad, like she always did, at her nan's home down the road at 10am on Saturday, and they would spend the day together.

By noon, he hadn't arrived. She sat, staring out of the window down the street, while her grandmother Edna looked on anxiously from the doorway. They called his home, but there was no answer.

When night fell and Kelly was still looking through the window, her grandmother touched her

Alice Hutton reports on how a single photograph helped Kelly-Ann Oakman solve the 19-year riddle of her dad's disappearance on the shoulder: it was clear he wasn't coming. John White, wherever he was, had disappeared without a trace.

Not that it's easy to trace someone when you're a 12-year-old schoolgirl, says Kelly, now a 30-year-old, happily married mum-of-two living in Royston.

So what do you do when your father goes missing?

"You ask your mum, right?" reasons Kelly. But whatever happened between her father and her mother is something Kelly has never been able to find out. After Kelly left home, she and her mother stopped speaking, despite living only a few streets apart.

Life wasn't always easy. The family moved from Potters Bar to Royston in 1994, and a few years later, aged 18, Kelly fell pregnant with her daughter,

Georgina, now 12, who is quietly doing her homework in the corner of their cosy living room. Sadly, the relationship with Georgina's father didn't work out, and then Georgina was diagnosed with hereditary Hyper Mobility Syndrome, which requires regular physiotherapy.

The condition was entirely absent from her mother's side of the family, so the answer had to lie with her father. And suddenly 19 years of unanswered questions flooded back, prompting Kelly to start her search again.

"It was a difficult decision," she says slowly. "It has always eaten me up, not knowing, and it had a lot to do with my depression when I was younger. I was abandoned by this man."

"But after I had Tyla [Kelly's son with her husband Clive Manning, an old friend from her Meridian School days, who she married in 2009], I knew he might also be affected by the condition, and I felt I owed it to my children to track him down."

But where do you start when the trail went cold as soon as it began? After several false starts with the Jamaican Embassy, Kelly placed an advert into several newspapers across London last month. Not long afterwards, the phone rang.

"When the phone call came I was here at home just doing everyday things," she continues, as 14-month-old Tyla toddles onto her lap. "Georgina hadn't even come home from school. And then the whole world totally changed."

A private detective, Andy Philippou, had been so moved by her tale he was offering to find her father for free.

Weeks later, he rang again. With nothing more to go on than the photograph, John's name and the fact he had worked at the Ford motor plant in Dagenham in the 1980s, he had managed to find details of an older brother, Ron, still registered as living in John's old neighbourhood of Palmer's Green, London.

Hands quivering at the memory, Kelly says: "I was shaking like a leaf when he told me. But I wanted to act straight away. I jumped in the car and got to their house in 45 minutes. Then I knocked on their door."

She needn't have been nervous. Her uncle's wife, Isolyn White, opened the door and, though shocked, she "practically fell into her arms."

Ron had died 12 years earlier, but Isolyn knew all about her. In fact, the whole family knew about her, and they had a photo of her in her school uniform to prove it.

Answers, when they come, always seem simpler than they should be. In less than five minutes, this woman had solved the puzzle that had haunted Kelly for decades.

Her father was alive, 71-years-old and living in Jamaica.

Touching Kelly on the arm, Isolyn asked: "Would you like to get in touch?" Kelly with her heart in her mouth dialled a number and, 4,000 miles away in the Porus area of Jamaica, a phone started to ring.

"Is that John?" she asked tentatively. "It's Kelly."

What followed was an outpouring of 20 years' worth of emotion and an elderly man crying quietly as he had his first conversation in almost two decades with his only child.

As ever, there are two sides to each story. For his part, says Kelly, John claims to have received a phone call, all those years ago, from someone else in the family, telling him Kelly and her mother had moved house, and that his daughter never wanted to see him again. That, he told Kelly, is the reason he left his daughter without a word. Two years later, he moved back to Jamaica.

"I felt so bad for my dad because he had been carrying that around with him, thinking that his only child didn't want anything to do with him," says Kelly. "It wasn't true," I told him. I said: 'We didn't move until 1994; I have always wanted to know you.'"

The truth about that phone call seems destined to remain a mystery; it would involve opening up too many old family wounds and, wisely, Kelly has chosen to let the past lie. This, she says, is a time for new beginnings, not old grudges.

Across the ocean now lies a second family dying to meet her, and a chance to discover her Jamaican heritage and relatives.

"There are questions that I want answered but I don't think I'm going to get the whole truth now and I should just be grateful that I found him in time," says Kelly.

"I can barely even remember the day when he never turned up; it's just too painful. But now to hear that this whole different family love me and know all about me - that is all I ever wanted. I don't need to dig up the past any more."

"I can't believe I held onto this for 20 years," she adds, staring at that creased, slightly faded photograph of her father. "I can't bear to think what might have happened if I had lost it; I don't think we'd be in touch today."

A few weeks ago, Kelly sent John a Father's Day card. "I hadn't written one for 20 years," she says, "and I didn't know whether to call him 'dad'. In the end it just came out and it felt good."

"I feel my shoulders aren't so heavy. I'm finding myself again - in bits and pieces."

Advisers step out to help smokers

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

STOP smoking advisers will be in Cambridgeshire this month to help people quit with the help of their local pharmacies.

From tomorrow, a number of NHS Cambridgeshire's Stop Smoking Support advisers will be chatting to people across the county one to one to explain how a local chemist could help them.

Camquit have teamed up with community pharmacies to set up a scheme in which smokers can book directly into a pharmacy stop smoking clinic.

Claire Mead, Camquit co-ordinator within Cambridgeshire Community Services, said: "Research has shown that you are four times more likely to successfully stop smoking if you get support.

"Camquit provides free non-judgemental support - we are a team of specialist advisors and understand how important stopping smoking is for each individual.

"You can expect free, weekly one-to-one support, stop smoking medicines to help you manage the cravings, free carbon monoxide checks so you can see your body healing and a stop smoking plan tailored to suit you."

Camquit advisors will be in Cambridge city centre at The Beehive Centre tomorrow and Saturday. They will also be in Huntingdon Market and town on Wednesday, July 27, and St Neots market on Thursday, July 28.

For more information, call the Camquit line on 0800 018 4304 or visit www.camquit.nhs.uk.

OAP's purse stolen

A PURSE has been stolen from a pensioner's shopping trolley. The 70-year-old woman was in Boots in High Street, Haverhill, when the item was taken between 11.30am and 11.50am on Saturday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Cheryl Claydon at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100.

Call to boatbuilders

CHILDREN will get the chance to build their own boat at a town park event this summer - and see if it floats. Rangers at East Town Park, Haverhill, will supply building materials on Friday, July 29, for the event called Day at the Races lasting from 12noon to 3pm. There will also be snail races for those who bring their own garden snail. Entry is £2 for the boat race and £1 for the snail race. For more information, call the park on (01284) 757088.

House plan rethink

REVISED plans to build a two-storey house on land in a village have been received by planners. The application is to build a house and detached cart lodge on land at School Road, Kedington. It also includes alterations to the existing access, a first-floor rear extension, revised fenestration/window changes and exterior finishes to the walls and roof. The plans have been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Epic bike ride in memory of mum

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SON is ready to embark on a gruelling 100-mile bike ride to raise money in memory of his late mother.

Nigel Swan, of Dunster Drive, Haverhill, will be heading down to the New Forest for a scenic, but hugely-demanding cycle event on Sunday in aid of Dementia UK.

Last December, the 51-year-old lost mum Doreen to the illness and it took a heavy toll on Nigel, as well as his brother Andrew and dad Peter.

Nigel, a coach driver for National Express, said: "Mum had been suffering from a particularly aggressive form of dementia for a couple of years before she died. She was 71."

"It took its toll on the family, as we are very close-knit."

"We only got to know the charity when it was already too late for mum, but they were a great help and I know they can help others with this unforgiving disease and help their families deal with the trauma."

The epic three-part challenge will start from in the New Forest National Park before sweeping south through picturesque villages and stopping in Lymington, where participants will board a ferry across the Solent.

Arriving on the Isle of Wight, riders will then circle the island, then return to the mainland to complete a short ride back through the forest to the finish.

Nigel added: "I have been a keen cyclist for a few years now and just tend to ride around the Haverhill area on my own. I have already done one 100-mile ride in April on behalf of a children's research charity between Peterborough and Stamford, so I know a bit about what to expect. Now it is just about getting as much training in before I go and, of course, raising as much as possible."

Police 'disappointed' by rise in number of drink-drivers caught

MORE drivers in Suffolk are risking their lives – and those of others – by driving under the influence of drink or drugs.

The results of Suffolk Police's summer drink-and-drug-drive enforcement campaign for June 2011 was a "disappointing" rise of 13.3 per cent compared to the figures from the same campaign in 2010.

The month-long campaign began on June 1 and saw officers across Suffolk conduct 507 breath tests. Of those tests, 111 were positive, which equates to 21.9 per cent.

This compares to the results from June 2010, where officers conducted 711 breath tests – 61 (8.6 per cent) of which were positive.

Of the 507 tests that were recorded, 114 were conducted on those aged 25 years and under, with 21 of these being positive, the equivalent of 18 per cent. Of the 393 tests conducted on those over 25, 90 were positive (23 per cent).

There were 211 tests routinely conducted on each party involved in road traffic collisions, with 41 drivers over the limit. That is equal to 19 per cent.

Of the 111 failed tests, 60 were carried out on Saturday and Sundays, with 47 of them taking place in the morning.

Inspector Bruce Gent

of the road policing unit said: "These figures are very disappointing. Over a fifth of people tested have failed to act with consideration or acknowledge the greatly-increased risks they face by drink-driving and this is unacceptable."

"Those offending need to realise that they not just putting themselves at risk, but other innocent road users as well. This is a very serious issue and can have severe consequences."

"Motorists must also be aware of how long alcohol can remain in your system. This year's figures show that a number of people have been caught on Saturday and Sunday mornings, which suggests drivers are getting behind the wheel having been drinking the night before. Even if you feel fine the next morning, you must recognise that you may still be over the limit and you should not drive."

"Drink- or drug-driving is one of the fatal four driving offences and will not be tolerated by Suffolk Police. This remains a priority and we will continue to do checks throughout the year."

Anyone who suspects someone of drink-driving is asked to report them immediately to the police or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Back to age of innocence

FOR a man who distinguished himself in so many areas of life, it is perhaps ironic that, in Eden End – a major revival of which comes to Cambridge Arts Theatre this week – JB Priestley chose to write about the one thing he could never hope to fully understand: unfulfilled ambition.

Born into modest means in Bradford in 1894, John Boynton Priestley – known to all as Jack – may have appeared, in the words of one contemporary critic, “pudgy and slow spoken”, but he possessed a razor-sharp mind that allowed him to transcend his humble beginnings as a junior clerk in a wool office to enjoy huge success as a playwright, novelist, critic, social commentator and broadcaster. Eden End has much in common with Priestley’s most celebrated play, An Inspector Calls, which is also making a return to Cambridge later this year. Both find the author casting back to an Edwardian age of innocence and exploring the fault-lines running through the lives of respectable middle class families. In Eden End, those cracks are exposed by the return of Stella Kirby (Charlotte Emmerson), the prodigal daughter who, eight years after running away to be an actress, unexpectedly washes up back at the family home, burdened with disappointment and broken dreams, and hoping to find comfort in the familiar surroundings of her childhood.

English Touring Theatre’s production – which also stars Jonathan Firth, brother of Colin – is the first major revival of Eden End in a decade, and received very positive reviews when it premiered in Northampton in early June.

At the start of this month, the play enjoyed a run in Richmond, where the opening night audience included one Tom Priestley, the only son among JB Priestley’s five children, who now acts a gatekeeper for his father’s legacy and is president of the JB Priestley Society.

When I caught up with him a few days earlier, I asked him if he recognises anything of his own family in the Kirbys.

“Definitely not,” he says. “My father was rather particularly not an autobiographical writer: other writers just recycle their lives, sometimes very effectively, but he had a very different way of working.”

And yet it’s clear that something kept drawing Priestley back to his own past: to those much eulogised summer days before the back of Europe was broken by the First World War.

“He once said that if he wrote a contemporary piece, it was very difficult not to make it journalistic,” says Tom, who will turn 80 next year. “But it’s true that for him, pre-1914 was his youth, which in a sense was destroyed by his experiences in the trenches in France. So he had a kind of affection for that particular period. And of course, there’s the irony that we know now, with hindsight, that [the Kirbys’] whole world was going to be destroyed by the First World War, and the younger son, Wilfred, would very likely have been killed.”

In 1919, Priestley received an ex-officer’s grant to study at Cambridge and spent three years reading modern history and political science at Trinity Hall. It was not, says Tom, an entirely happy experience.

“I think he found it difficult; he felt very much an outsider. In those days it was a much more upper class thing, going to Cambridge, and they obviously slightly looked down on him as a rough northerner. And of course he was 25 – a lot of them would have been coming in straight from public school at 18, with no experience of life at all.”

Perhaps Priestley’s most influential contribution to the rise of the workers’ movement between the wars was his seminal 1934 book English Journey, in which he recounted his travels around the country the previous year, highlighting the lives of quiet desperation being led by millions of ordinary people in ports, shipyards and factory towns left devastated by the Depression. What does Tom think he would he make of the Britain of 2011?

“I think he’d be very sad,” he says. “I think plainly a lot is wrong: you can start with the whole banking crisis and all of that. He always had a low view of people who lived purely by money – buying stocks and shares, or borrowing money from banks to buy up companies and then stripping their assets. Are they actually creating anything, or are they just using them to make money? These are the things he’d seen in his lifetime; can we say they’ve got any better?”

JB Priestley died in August 1984, shortly before his 90th birthday. For a time, his plays fell out of favour, until Stephen Daldry rescued An Inspector Calls from its quiet dotage as a staple of the village am-dram circuit with his electrifying 1992 National Theatre revival. One of the most garlanded theatrical productions of all time, it is this version which continues to play to packed houses up and down the country, leading the way for high profile revivals of Time and the Conways and now Eden End, among others.

In fact, for all his successes, it feels like it’s taken the best part of a century for JB Priestley to become the one thing you could never have accused him of being before – fashionable.

It's fun on stilts

THE Cambridge International Festival is a great opportunity for visiting students in Cambridge to get together and party.

At The Junction this Saturday, there'll be dance, chart, R&B and samba music – plus stilt-walkers, dancers, UV painters and much more to ensure the event goes with a bang. The show runs from 10pm until 4am. Tickets cost £6 in advance from (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk.

Magic and music

BILLED as 'not your run-of-the-mill magic show', The Music of Magic is a musical-themed two-act show of comic sketches, illusions, sleight of hand and trickery, performed by Neil Henry. It tells the story of Neil's life and is designed to puzzle and amaze adults of all ages! It starts at 8pm Sunday at the ADC Theatre, Cambridge. Tickets start at £7 and can be booked by contacting (01223) 300085 / www.adctheatre.com.

Party on stage

THE Huntingdon Drama Club are staging Mike Leigh's acclaimed Abigail's Party this week at the Huntingdon Commemoration Hall. The play was first performed in 1977 then adapted for TV, with Alison Steadman in the role of the domineering hostess. Tickets cost £9 (£7 concessions) and performances start at 7.30pm, from tonight until Saturday. For tickets, call (01480) 454486.

Five get funky

FIVE-piece funk/soul/rock jam-band Bijoumiyo will be performing as part of the Craig Charles Funk & Soul Club at The Junction in Cambridge tomorrow. Tickets cost £12 in advance and the evening runs from 10pm until 2am. Contact (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk.

Strike up the bands

Some of the world's leading musicians will be appearing in Cambridge in the 32nd annual Cambridge Summer Music Festival. Over 23 days, the city will play host to more than 30 concerts, recitals, workshops, picnics and family events. Here, The Guide takes a look at the top picks from this musical extravaganza.

Romance and tragedy

A fully staged performance of Puccini's La Bohème is given by the brilliant young opera company Vignette (Saturday, July 30, 7.30pm, West Road Concert Hall). Their innovative production, set in the aftermath of a war-torn Paris under strict military occupation, will enchant, unsettle and inspire in equal measures.

Orchestra Greats

Festival favourites the Aurora Orchestra is a group of exhilarating young players making waves in the classical music world. Recently awarded the prestigious 2011 Royal Philharmonic Society Ensemble Award, they are the most exciting new chamber ensemble to emerge in a generation. They play a delightful programme that includes excerpts from Mendelssohn's A Midsummer Night's Dream and Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony (Saturday, July 23, 8.15pm, King's College Chapel).

Comic turns

It's not all serious in the world of classical music! Among the more light-hearted events, the Classic Buskers present Opera Without the Singing (a surprisingly large number of operatic masterpieces, played at unlikely speeds on unusual instruments). Their concert, in All Saints Church, Haslingfield (Sunday, July 24, 3.30pm), is one of three village concerts – outreach events taking place in villages around Cambridge.

Kids' stuff

There's a whole programme of events for children from opera, jazz and musical theatre workshops, plus panto for the very young. A highlight for all ages will be the Family Picnic Concert at Wandlebury Country Park (Saturday, July 30, 3.30pm), with Cambridge Community Samba band playing jazzy Brazilian rhythms guaranteed to bring a carnival atmosphere to an afternoon of fun.

Early music treat

For lovers of the Baroque, 'authentic performance' specialists La Serenissima present a scintillating programme of music by Vivaldi, including his perennially popular Four Seasons and an exciting new discovery – the flute sonata Il Gran Mogul, recently unearthed in Scotland's National Archives (Thursday, July 28, 8pm, King's College Chapel).

Pianistic excellence

Pascal Rogé is one of the world's finest interpreters of French piano music, and that repertoire forms the basis of his solo piano recital in the beautiful setting of the Fitzwilliam Museum's main gallery (today, 7.30pm). Works by Fauré, Satie, Debussy, Ravel and Poulenc.

Champagne finale

Two of Britain's greatest opera stars, soprano Dame Felicity Lott and baritone Sir Thomas Allen, provide the sparkling grand finale with a mixture of operatic arias, Lieder and songs from the shows (Saturday, August 6, 8pm, West Road Concert Hall).
Cambridge Summer Music Festival, until August 6, various venues. For tickets, contact (01223) 300085/www.cambridgesummermusic.com

The big film

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 2 certificate 12a 130m

ALMOST 10 years after the release of Harry Potter And The Philosopher's Stone, the most successful film franchise in history reaches its spectacular conclusion.

In Harry Potter And The Deathly Hallows: Part 2, The final chapter rests heavily on the shoulders of Radcliffe and while he has improved as an actor, he doesn't possess the range to provide a strong emotional connection to Harry's grief.

Thankfully, Radcliffe's woodenness cannot wreck one of the film's best scenes – a reunion with long-lost friends in The Forbidden Forest. Watson and Grint shine in their few scenes including that long-awaited kiss, and both sob convincingly as their teenage wizards come to terms with the enormity of their loss. It may not be the best film of the series – that honour still belongs to Alfonso Cuarón's stunning interpretation of Harry Potter And The Prisoner Of Azkaban, which plumbed the dark, foreboding undercurrents of JK Rowling's writing with flair.

However, Deathly Hallows: Part 2

brings down the curtain in style. The film opens with Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes) stealing the powerful Elder Wand from Dumbledore's grave, which he will use to slay Harry. Dastardly acolytes Bellatrix Lestrange (Helena Bonham Carter) and Lucius Malfoy (Jason Isaacs) press forward with their diabolical plans, while Severus Snape (Alan Rickman) fills the vacant post of headmaster at Hogwarts. Elsewhere, Harry, Ron and Hermione continue their mission to track down the final Horcruxes, which contain fragments of Voldemort's blackened soul. The quest leads to Hogwarts where fellow students Neville Longbottom (Matthew Lewis), Luna Lovegood (Evanna Lynch) and Ginny Weasley (Bonnie Wright) are ready to lay down their lives to protect Harry from Death Eaters. It builds relentlessly to the final battle at Hogwarts, which is brilliantly realised with a seamless conflation of live action and dazzling digital trickery. An attempted break-in at Gringotts Wizarding Bank introduces the blind dragon which guards the Lestrange Vault and the search for Rowena Ravenclaw's lost diadem in the Room of Requirement is similarly thrilling. There will be few dry eyes when the credits roll.

Going for garden glory

by Hannah Stephenson

WE'VE come a long way since the days of sky blue fences and decking, the must-haves in any makeover project during the BBC's Ground Force days. There won't be a blue fence in sight now that Chelsea award-winning garden designer David Domoney presents Garden ER, an eight-part garden makeover series that began last week on Channel 5, assisted by co-host Bonnie Davies.

"Ground Force had a very distinctive style of garden. Everybody had blue fence panels and decking. I've endeavoured to create every garden so differently that you wouldn't know it's the same designer who's done all of them.

"I've put attitude into the gardens. Everything has a personality, matching who the homeowner is."

Each programme features a makeover of an average-sized garden in a new housing development in the Midlands, with plenty of suggestions on how to achieve garden glory on a budget.

FINGERS ON THE PULSE: Bonnie Davies and David Domoney have plenty of suggestions to help with your garden makeover.

Quirky additions include palm trees the height of the first floor, flamethrowers have been used on decking to carbonise the surface, while strategically placed mirrors reflect light and space.

The presenters will also be touring celebrity gardens, righting some of the worst gardening gaffes and 'pimping' up some garden sheds.

"Most gaffes involve just planting in ones and twos," Domoney explains. "If you want to do a Chelsea-style garden and you are planting bulbs, you plant in hundreds or in tens. The secret is that bold is beautiful."

Some people buy a series of different small plants when it would be best to invest in one significant specimen, he adds.

"I don't think there's anything wrong in spending £500 or £1,000 on a single tree. If we do a garden for about £3,000, £1,000 might have been spent on a big tree.

"Rather than go in for the smaller stuff, think about putting aside £200 for a decent tree and I promise you that will make a fantastic difference," he enthuses.

People often don't get a balance between proportion and scale, he adds.

"They'll go out and find a little water feature and put it in the centre of a huge lawn. The secret is to buy in proportion of the space and try and find something that's fitting."

Another big mistake people make is not investing wisely in stylish garden furniture, he observes.

"If you have friends or relatives round for a barbecue, what comes out? Low-backed, white resin chairs which are looking stained.

"Kitting people out with decent garden furniture is not expensive now. I walked into a B&Q and saw a full mosaic garden set for about £180. Why is everybody still using cheap plastic?"

Planting at the wrong time can also lead to struggling plants and water-hungry turf.

"People lay a lawn in the middle of summer, spray it lightly and then leave it – and after a few days, part of it's brown."

Spring or autumn is the best time to lay turf and you need to lay it as soon as it's delivered and keep it well watered until it's established, which could take a month or two.

Seek help if you're unsure about a plant or design idea, he advises. Take pictures or cuttings if you want advice on design or plant identification and take them to your local garden centre where staff should be able to help.

Gardeners on a budget should consider the five 'Fs' – flooring, fencing, features, foliage and flowers – he explains.

"Don't go for square grey slabs on your patio. There are so many different shapes, textures and colours on offer.

"You can enhance fencing, not just by using different coloured stains but using willow wraps or liquid laminate wall art or outdoor mirrors. Treat any shed, garage wall, house wall or fence panel as you would inside your own home.

"Be bold with features, choosing something that fits in with the garden, whether it's water, statues or a gazebo.

"Foliage is also important. Trying to get colour all year round is key. Big is good. Buy as big as you can afford or buy plants that are fast-growing.

"Plant perennials such as lavenders and other perennials which will come back again and again. While they grow, use bedding to provide colour in-between."

Lettings & Management

Every year, unlicensed agents cause Britain's landlords and tenants unnecessary stress and hassle - and sometimes loss of money - by giving incorrect or misleading advice or offering poor standards of customer service.

Why use an ARLA Member?

By using a Licensed ARLA agent you are guaranteed:

That the agency is covered by the Client Money Protection (CMP) Scheme. The ARLA have the ability to make discretionary grants if you suffer financial loss due to the bankruptcy or dishonesty of the member and/or their firm

To be consulting with a qualified and trained agent who can give you professional up-to-date advice and guidance.

That you are dealing with an agent who voluntarily follows the Code of Practice and Rules of Conduct laid down by their professional body.

Membership of the Association is through formal qualification ensuring that ARLA member agents have the knowledge and experience to guide you through your property transaction as smoothly and painlessly as possible. Operating under strict rules of conduct, members must meet certain standards relating to professional and ethical practice. Under the rules, agents are required to protect and promote their client's interests, while at all times acting in a fair and proper manner. If you are unfortunate enough to suffer at the hands of malpractice by an ARLA letting agent, the Association can take disciplinary action on your behalf.

You are better protected and will get higher standards from ARLA members!

You can be sure you are dealing with an experienced and professional agent, by choosing an ARLA member.

If you are a landlord or thinking of becoming one,

The new Jeep Grand Cherokee: From £36,795.

Jeep recasts SUV dynamic for new Grand Cherokee

ALMOST two decades ago, Jeep invented the premium SUV (sport-utility vehicle) segment with the introduction of the Jeep Grand Cherokee.

More than 4 million worldwide sales later, Jeep has comprehensively honed this winning formula and is now delivering the ultimate combination of Jeep 4x4 off-road capability and on-road refinement with the all-new 2011 Jeep Grand Cherokee.

New Jeep Grand Cherokee has been designed on a new platform to deliver premium on-road performance while maintaining the Jeep brand's legendary four-wheel drive, torque-on-demand two-speed transfer case for extraordinary off-road capability and durability.

The new vehicle also offers significantly lowered emissions and improved fuel economy (up to 39mpg) with its new turbocharged 3-litre V6 CRD engine, together with a world-class interior providing luxury, comfort and enhanced safety. Despite its rugged, trail-tested off-road capabilities, the new Jeep Grand Cherokee is a sophisticated, luxury SUV that can easily be driven on an everyday basis by anyone.

Designed on a new platform to offer the driver premium on-road performance coupled with legendary capability off-road, the new Jeep Grand Cherokee has significantly lower emissions and improved fuel consumption figures when compared with its predecessor.

Its new 3.0-litre V6 CRD diesel engine powers the car from 0-62mph in 8.2 seconds and goes on to a top speed of 126mph, yet the 237bhp unit returns 34.0mpg on the combined cycle.

The Grand Cherokee range starts at £36,795 for the 3.0 CRD V6 Limited, rising to £43,995 for the 3.0 CRD V6 Overland.

The CLA Game Fair 2011 will be held this weekend.

Discount: The Suzuki Swift is available for £6,495 until the end of September.

Suzuki ditches VAT for Alto SZ2 and Swift SZ2 until end of September

AS part of its mid-summer campaign, Suzuki has announced that buyers won't pay VAT on Alto SZ2 and Swift SZ2 models until the end of September.

This means that the Alto SZ2 is available for £6,495 and the Swift SZ2 three-door for £8,495, representing customer savings of £1,325 and £1,715 respectively.

Low rate PCPs are also available on Alto models and, taking SZ2 at £6,495 as an example, can be driven away after a deposit of £695. This is followed by 36 monthly payments of £129 with an optional balloon payment of £2,683 to keep the car at the end of the term.

Suzuki has also extended its 0 per cent finance offer on Swift SZ3 and SZ4 models with payments from £156 per month over three years.

Suzuki's popular low rate PCP Drive plans are also included in the VAT-free campaign.

Matt's life as Spatcher lashes out

Bowled over: When Linton Village cricket coaches, Dean Chippis and Ian Martin, held a taster session at their local infants school in April, they were staggered by the response. More than 40 children turned up to the first under-nines' training session, and more coaches were drafted in with helpers including Linton Village College students working towards their Duke of Edinburgh Awards.

The 10-week training sessions have just finished with all the players receiving a trophy in a presentation ceremony (above). ECB Level 2 coach, Chippis, said: "It has been a lot of work, but it is so enjoyable to see such enthusiasm for cricket at such a young age." ■ The young cricketers will be in action when the club, in conjunction with Linton Granta FC and the Crown Inn, hosts a Wild West Fun Day on August 7. CP

MATT Spatcher hammered the highest score in the Adams Harrison Midweek League this season to give his Halstead side hope of avoiding the drop from Division Two.

He blasted 140 as Halstead surged to 217 for 5 against Helions Bumpstead, who limped to 75 for 9 in reply.

The result relegated Helions while at the other end of the table, Hundon remain on course for the title despite losing to closest challengers Horseheath.

Dave Brown hit 51 in Horseheath's 135 for 5 as Hundon's reply looked to be all but over when a slow start, combined with Ben Piper taking a hat-trick to finish with 4 for 18, left them struggling.

However, aggressive batting got them to within four runs of a tie with one wicket remaining, and the bonus points keep them top of the pile.

Also in the division, Cherry Tree romped to victory against Long Melford, thanks to an impressive all-round display.

Matt Hoadley took the batting honours with an unbeaten 60 in their 130 for 5 and he then weighed in with 3 for 22 as the opposition got to 123. Dan Tatum tormented Long Melford with 5 for 20 and Matt Holt held four catches.

Abington remain in the Division One title hunt after totalling 172 for 2 against Babraham, thanks to 67 from Simon Bishop and solid knocks from Matt Thomas (36) and Will Turner (29).

Babraham could only manage 62 for 7 in reply.

Elsewhere in the division, Weston Colville anchored Fulbourn to the bottom of the table. Colville totalled 116 for 6 with Fulbourn winding up on 98 for 8.

Bruce Workmaster (64), Mel Palmer (29) and Tom Beaumont (40) provided Hundon II's platform as they reached 157 for 5 in their Division 3A clash against Gestingthorpe.

Ed Pickerin then took 3 for 23 as Gestingthorpe finished on 139 for 8.

Russell Davis hit 81 and then took 3 for 14 to help Wrating Lions move up to third in Division 3A. Tony Steel weighed in with an unbeaten 69 in their 180 for 2 against Brockley, who made 167 for 9.

Shelfords marked their debut in the league by winning Division 3B, the title sealed by scoring 154 for 3 against Linton, who made 146 for 9.

And Abington II's game against Mill Green was over fairly rapidly. The home side were all out for 57 as Jamie Ketteridge (4 for 10) and Dave Furlow (3 for 11) wreaked havoc, James Lawrence hitting an unbeaten 27 as Abington got to 61 without loss.

Lambert strikes but Wrating fall to late double

Thaxted Rangers 2
West Wrating 1

Under-15 friendly
WEST Wrating were given a thorough test by a well-drilled Thaxted side who were runners-up in the Blackwater-Dengie A League Championship. They dominated the early stages when Coulson hit the post and Ripp struck the bar as Wrating, with several players taking the chance to impress, created a number of good chances.

They took the lead with a well-worked goal from skipper Earle Lambert, but were hit by two late goals as Thaxted took charge and stepped up the pressure.

Home help for Rovers

ALTHOUGH they start off with a trip to the seaside, the first month of the new Ridgeons League season provides Haverhill Rovers with home comforts. Rovers make the trek to Gorleston for the Premier Division opener on August 13, but then are camped at the New Croft with games against Walsham le Willows (16), Ely City (23) and Kirkley & Pakefield.

In the middle of that comes the FA Cup tie at Stowmarket (20), with Rovers rounding of the month at CRC (31). The Christmas programme sees a derby at Newmarket on Boxing Day with the return game against CRC on January 2.

■ Two goals in a minute midway through the second half condemned Rovers' 10-men to defeat in their pre-season game against Needham Market at the New Croft on Tuesday. Needham, the first side to play at Rovers' new ground last year, were handed the advantage just before the interval when Marc Abbott was sent off for a reckless challenge. However, the Ryman League Division 1N runners-up struggled to make their numerical superiority count until the 70th minute when two shots from distance inside 60 seconds settled the encounter. Rovers are due to travel to Thetford Town tonight (Thursday), Halstead on Saturday and Leiston on Tuesday.

Farrow tames Coupals Road greens to take title

PAT Kennedy and Geraldine Wheatley flew the flag for the host club as Haverhill hosted the inaugural Eastern Region Senior Ladies Championship, a tournament for the over-50s.

Kennedy finished with the best nett score and Wheatley had the second-best nett score in the over-60s as a competitive field of 42 from across the Eastern Counties – eight playing off single-figure handicaps – tackled the Coupals Road course.

Such was the challenging nature of the course – set-up to a high standard by head greenkeeper Glenn Norris and his team – the competition scratch score was raised to 75.

Rosemary Farrow, from the St Neots club, took top spot, firing a gross 87.

Best gross: Rosemary Farrow (St Neots) 87. Overall nett: Pat Kennedy (Haverhill) - 89-17-72

Over-50, best nett: 1 Sue Anderson (Crondon Park) 92-15-77, 2 Jan Helm (Crondon Park) 97-19-78.

Over-60, best nett: Ann Graves (Woodbridge) 89-12-77, 2 Geraldine Wheatley (Haverhill) 99-22-77.

Over-70, best nett: Nina Nielsen (Woodbridge) 100-16-84.

Chairman's fear as Haverhill face 'must-win' clash

CLUB chairman Steven Woodley has labelled Saturday's home clash against Coggeshall "a must-win game" as Haverhill look to establish themselves in the top flight of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

The club goes into the second half of the season seventh of the 12 Division One sides, comfortably clear of the marooned pair Abberton and Maldon.

But Woodley is worried that two would become three to drop into Division Two if a relegated side from the Gibbs Denley East Anglian Premier League opted to drop into the Championship.

And he said the push to finish mid-table or better in their debut season at the highest level they have played starts on Saturday against a side two places, and nine points, below them.

"These are the games we have to win," said Woodley. "If someone had told us before the season we'd have been in this position, we'd have accepted it.

"But we could have been even better off. There have been games we could have won, but haven't, and the danger is if there are three teams relegated.

"So we've got to aim to finish fourth from bottom or higher, and that makes Coggeshall a big game for us – a must-win game." However, Haverhill will have to field a weakened side for the tussle against a team they beat earlier in the season. Adam Dellar, who has resigned as captain, is on holiday while Simon Youngs – who has agreed to lead the side again for the rest of the season – and his wicketkeeper son Luke, who also opens the batting, are unavailable.

Coach Chris Silverwood definitely plays and will captain, while Woodley's son Joe is also drafted in.

Woodley was philosophical regarding Dellar's decision to stand down. "I think he just wanted a rest from the job. He's only a young lad, he's had three years at it, he also coaches our under-15s and he's got university work to do as well," he said.

"It can be quite stressful at times and it's a lot of responsibility on young shoulders."

Dellar had piloted the side through their most successful spell and into Division One for the first time, but Woodley said: "Adam will still play for us, but we're lucky that Simon Youngs has agreed to take it back until the end of the season.

"Overall, I'm happy where we are – two or three more wins would see us there."

WEEKEND FIXTURES

Saturday - Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One: Haverhill v Coggeshall (1pm). Division Six: Braintree II v Haverhill II. Cricket Stick CCA Junior League, Division 6A: Horseheath II v Haverhill Wanderers. Sunday - Hunts County Bats Suffolk League, First XI: Bury St Edmunds Academy v Haverhill. Division Four: Woolpit II v Haverhill II.

Deadly Smith wraps up cup

LUKE Youngs and James Smith provided the bright spots of a rain-affected spell by powering Haverhill's midweek first team to glory in the Adams Harrison Midweek League Cup.

They beat the normally free-scoring Sawston side in an exciting final, Youngs setting them on their way to 105 for 8 with a top score of 42.

It looked as if it might not be enough as, after a few overs, Sawston looked to be well in charge.

However, Smith, aided by some impressive fielding, changed the face of the game with 4 for 23 as Sawston fell short at 99.

Sawston got their revenge the following night when they restricted Haverhill to 73 for 6 in pursuit of 101 for 9 and remain top of Division One.

Haverhill's mood remained buoyant, though, when the midweek second XI sealed promotion to Division Two. They clinched the Division 3A title by comfortably beating Highpoint, Liam Savage blasting an unbeaten 57 as the visitors overhauled Highpoint's 105 for 4 at 107 for 4.

■ The entire Saturday league programme – from Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship through to Cricket Stick CCA Junior League – was wiped out by the weather, while Haverhill's two games on Sunday in the Hunts County Bats League were wiped out after 20 overs by heavy downpours.
